

- Approximately 1000 km (620 miles ) long
- One of National Geographic 20 best epic trails
http://adventure.nationalgeographic.com/adventure/trips/best-trails/worlds-best-grail-trails/#/israel-national-trail-hike\_56712\_600x450.jpg
- The longest trail photographed for Google Street View and the first one that runs the entire length of a country
<http://www.google.com/intl/iw/maps/streetview/#israel-national-trail>

The Israeli 1000 km trail runs from the northern lush green land of abundant springs, waterfalls and rivers through historical and Biblical landscape to the arid Negev Desert, and ends at the coral reefs of the Red Sea.

As truly great and epic trail it winds into the essence of this ancient yet rejuvenating country. It walks the traveler deeper into the wealth of history and culture as well as the unique and varied landscape. This trail powerfully connects to the sublime beauty of the wilderness of the Middle East that often gets lost in all the headlines

We recommend hiking the trail either in spring (February through April) as the winter rain will have tapered off, leaving weeks of perfect temperatures and green fields full of wildflowers, or The fall (late October through mid-December) with normally moderate temperatures and little rain.

People often choose to hike only a few segments of the trail. 20 km a day is a fair estimate for a daily distance- many days in the desert require you to hike around 25 km, but on other days you may hike less and take it easy

A bonus to this unique experience is the relaxed atmosphere of friendship and mutual love of nature and the glorious environment shared by tourists and Israelis of all ages hiking together along the trail as well as connecting with local people known as "Trail angels" who will host hikers in their homes and offer assistance if required.

It is up to each individual to decide what kind of trail experience is right for him/her – We will gladly accommodate all your wishes. One can sleep near civilization where we provide luxuries and pampering accommodations or be one with the wilderness where we can supply all your needs including convenient camping facilities.

We will also provide an experienced expert guide to hike any part of the trail as well as all the logistics including transportation, food, water, as well as a variety of accommodations along the trail.

